The Michigan resolution pointed out that the Michigan society sent a commission to study health in-surance in England and that this committee's report "ruises certain grave questions concerning the policy of the officials of the Amerlean Medical Association toward health Insurance.'

It concluded that although the Michlgan body sent this report to the board of trustees of the Amer-ican Medical Association in February, 1934, no word has been re-

D., of New York with instructions to report at tomorrow's secret session. The board of trustees called to this committee's attention past action of the House of Delegates in opposing all forms of state and compul-

A proposal to regulate radio medical advertis ing rather than to abolish it was made by the Medical Society of New York State. Action on them was deferred until tomorrow.
